

Object In Sky Called Weather Balloon

IT'S A BIRD... It's a star... It's a saucer!

Hundreds of Monroe County residents couldn't quite make out the phenomena which hovered in the air high above the Poconos for more than an hour Saturday night.

But each spectator had his own view as to the nature of the strange celestial object which vanished from sight as quickly as it had appeared.

Then came the "official" explanation: It was a large weather balloon—possibly the same one which was released from Idlewild Airport earlier in the day.

Before that answer came, many residents from all over Eastern Pennsylvania, central New Jersey and sections of New York were sure that they had seen their first flying saucer.

Scores of calls were received by The Daily Record, local police and by the Hamlen Flying Service in East Stroudsburg. Each caller wanted the same information: "Can you tell anything about that thing in the sky?"

Mrs. Leslie Rosizer, 387 Lincoln Ave., East Stroudsburg, was one of countless area residents who saw the strange object hovering high in the air, illuminated by an Indian Summer sun.

"Over toward the east," Mrs. Rosizer recounted, "there was an object about the size of a good-sized saucer."

"For a time, it was as white as snow," she continued. "Then it turned orange—then to blood red. It stood there for sometime, then disappeared like the snap of your finger," she motioned.

Her description tallied with that given by many other Monroe County spectators.

Among those locally who tried to explain the strange object was Harold T. Hamlen, operator of Hamlen's Flying Service.

Hamlen disclosed that Amos E. Smith, Wayne St. Stroudsburg, took off from the East Stroudsburg field in a small Piper to determine the nature of the object.

"Later he told us that it was as small to him at 6,000 feet as it was to us on the ground," Hamlen reported.

It was later learned that a plane was dispatched from Newark Airport which placed the balloon at 18,000 feet. At the same time, officials at Idlewild Airport theorized that the balloon which gave area residents "a flying saucer scare" could have been the same one which they released Saturday.

The plastic-type balloon was described by weather officials as being about 20-feet in circumference. It was further theorized that the balloon may have developed a slow leak, which resulted in its steady course in the sky.

Weather research balloons send out data concerning temperatures, humidity and pressures. They usually disintegrate after reaching a certain altitude.

Observers pointed out that the fact that the balloons do disintegrate would explain why it vanished so quickly from sight. It was also noted that the color change could be explained by the changing position of the late afternoon sun.

At any rate, weather officials say the object which had Monroe County residents guessing Saturday was simply an old weather balloon—that, and nothing more. But you never know!

WHAT IS IT? This strange object was seen by hundreds of Monroe County residents hovering high in the sky late Saturday afternoon. Some thought they had seen their first flying saucer. Others mistook the strange object for a star. But officials said it was only a weather balloon. (Photo by Harry Leide)

Robbers Take $12,000 In Feed Sack

WEST BABYLON, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Five and 10-dollar bills scattered on the floor. Coins and bills stashed in coffee bags, flower pots, kitchen utensils.

That's part of what police found in the random home of a taxicab driver and his reclusive sister, robbed yesterday of a feed bag crammed with an estimated $12,000 cash.

Police said two thugs missed many thousands more in the ramshackle, junk-filled home of 53-year-old John Van Huda and his sister, Jeannette, 64.

How much? Well, Babylon Police Chief Percy K. Hempstead said today:

Sealed

"The cash had been sealed in two boxes and will be counted tomorrow at a bank."

"One box contains more than 200 pounds in silver and there must be several thousand dollars there. The other box is stuffed with bills. How much there is I can't say, but it's plenty."

He added:

"The rats ate a lot of it."

The boxes, Hempstead said, are as big as liquor cases.

The Van Hudas, who apparently had been fooling people for years about being poverty-stricken, themselves were hoaxed into letting two bandits into their two-story house.

The thugs appeared with a flour barrel, which they claimed was full of groceries collected by neighbors for the "needy" pair.

Once inside, one bandit clipped Van Huda on the head, the sister screamed, and the thieves grabbed the money-bulging feed bag and ran.

Miss Van Huda, asked about the unconventional home deposit system, replied:

"That's because of that Hitler... Johnnie got very excited because he thought Hitler was going to take over the whole world. He thought if he kept the money in the house, Hitler wouldn't look for it there."

Police said they also found a number of uncashed checks lying around.

Stassen Denies Bomb Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's advisor on disarmament problems, said today there was no truth whatsoever to the report Stassen himself had favored stopping the H-bomb tests.

The question was put to him by Borden Stevenson, son of Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, during the course of a TV interview.

Israel Recalls Ambassadors

JERUSALEM, Oct. 14 (AP)—Israel summoned its ambassadors home from the Big Four capitals today for urgent consultations on the Arab world's decision to bolster the defenses of Jordan.

Frontier tension heightened at reports, swelling for four days, that Iraq will again move troops into the little Arab kingdom with which it was allied in the Palestine war of 1948.

Afield, an Israeli military patrol was reported to have killed two Egyptian guerrillas and captured two others in a skirmish today in the Sidi Boker area of the central Negev Desert.

Vice Consul's Wife Jailed On Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14 (AP)—The pretty, 26-year-old wife of a Yugoslavian vice consul was free of jail today after police had held her five hours on a shoplifting charge.

Mrs. Sonje Juznic, a native Serb and citizen of Yugoslavia, was arrested late yesterday by a store detective in the downtown J. C. Penney Co. store. She was released without bail after police had consulted with the State Department in Washington.

Police Inspector Al Corraza said that Mrs. Juznic had $26.75 worth of store merchandise in her shopping bag, including two sheets, two pairs of men's socks, five towels, one woman's sweater and five slide fasteners.

Denial

Yugoslavian Consul General Branko Karadzole denied Mrs. Juznic's guilt, called the affair "a bad misunderstanding," and insisted that under an international agreement police had no right to arrest her.

Victor Purse, deputy chief of protocol for the State Department, said in Washington that Mrs. Juznic does not have diplomatic immunity and that the United States has no convention with Yugoslavia.

Karadzole said Mrs. Juznic who has been in the country 18 months with her husband Stanislaw, had really paid for the items but had thrown away the sales slips. He said she didn't know enough English to explain this to police.

Her husband told the police, "She always throws away sales slips."

Harriman Expresses Doubt About Ike-Powell Agreement

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York expressed doubt today that there is any "secret deal" between President Eisenhower and Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.). But he said that if there is such a deal the President has a "duty to tell the American people about it."

There have been charges that White House "pressure" stemming from a federal tax trial of Powell's secretary caused him to endorse the Eisenhower-Nixon GOP national ticket last week.

Denounces Charge

Powell, Negro congressman representing New York's Harlem area, has denounced the charges, made by Negro Democratic leaders, as "a complete lie."

Harriman, a Democrat, was interviewed today on a local TV program, WICR's "Citizens Union Searchlight."

It was "rather strange," he said, for Powell to have announced his support of Eisenhower "upon coming out of the White House and a private meeting with the President."

But he added:

"I don't believe for a minute that the President would make a secret deal with Mr. Powell."

The discussion turned to civil rights and Harriman said the President has made no public statement to clarify his position on the issue. Then Harriman said:

"If the President has made a secret deal with Mr. Powell, it is his—his—the President's—duty to tell the public about it."

Ike To Record Talks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower will make three five-minute recorded television talks Monday and Tuesday introducing a series of 33 five-minute campaign speeches by Cabinet members and other leading Republicans.

"My answer is: as little as possible consistent with the national security. My charge is: The national administration in Washington today is withholding a great deal more than this. My position is: something can be done about that and we must do it."

Duff defended his voting record in the Senate, a prime campaign issue of the Democrats, and spoke about what he described as a difference in the attitudes of the two presidential candidates.

President Eisenhower, Duff said, "seeks to unite all our people on the basis of friendship and good will."

Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, "constantly appeals to prejudice," Duff said.

"Whether or not he intends to do so," Duff continued, "the fact is, nevertheless, that this appeal tends to create hatred and to divide our people. The atmosphere thus created is not the climate in which to address ourselves to the solution of the many difficult problems that demand our attention."

Scientists Back Adlai

PASADENA, Calif., Oct. 14 (AP)—Ten nuclear scientists, five of them with Oak Ridge and Los Alamos backgrounds, today supported Adlai Stevenson's proposed ban on H-bomb tests.

Clark, Duff Speak On Same Program

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (AP)—U. S. Sen. James H. Duff, Pennsylvania Republican, and Joseph S. Clark, Democratic candidate for Duff's Senate seat, spoke on the same program for the first time in their campaigns, as they addressed a dinner meeting of the 32nd annual convention of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Assn. Saturday night.

Prior to the dinner, which wound up the three-day publishers' meeting here, Duff and the former mayor of Philadelphia, shook hands for the benefit of photographers.

Clark won a coin toss to decide who would speak first. With infrequent interruptions for applause, he concentrated the main points of his speech on what he said was "control of the news in Washington."

Fact

"We have accepted the fact that certain information must be denied to us," Clark said, "information that could be made available only at the risk of endangering the future and the welfare of our country. We cannot contend that no news should be withheld from us. It is rather, as with the taxes from our paychecks, how much?"

"My answer is: as little as possible consistent with the national security. My charge is: The national administration in Washington today is withholding a great deal more than this. My position is: something can be done about that and we must do it."

Duff defended his voting record in the Senate, a prime campaign issue of the Democrats, and spoke about what he described as a difference in the attitudes of the two presidential candidates.

Only Half Of Voters Talk Politics

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (AP)—Only 44.7 per cent of the 102 million Americans old enough to vote are talking about politics today, a survey discloses.

Sindlinger & Co., Ridley Park, Pa., analysts who took the poll, uncovered these other nonpartisan observations:

1. More people "talk about politics" in the West, the least in the East.
2. Men talk more about it than women.
3. Of the 46 million discussing the political situation—regardless of party—the bulk of them, nearly 41 millions, are talking about the presidential election.

Organization

Albert E. Sindlinger, head of the polling organization, said, "It is startling to see how more and more millions start talking politics as the election gets closer."

His firm started taking the political pulse 10 weeks ago and he reports that only 5,350,000 persons, or 5.2 per cent of those 21 years old and over, talked politics then. The August high was 17 millions during the Democratic convention and the people talking politics during the first two weeks of September dropped to less than 10 million.

But by the end of September political talkers increased to 38½ millions, with an additional five million between the ages of 12 and 21.

Sindlinger said his figures represent a "projection of nationwide daily interviewing among a scientific cross-section of the public."

Sindlinger said his staff of 186 interviewers more than 1,000 persons each day and during the past 10 weeks—while they conducted their business surveys to determine what movies people saw, what television programs they preferred—they asked about 75,000 whether they talked politics.

More Southern men talked politics than males in any other section, while in the South women showed the least interest.

Nixon Sees Victory In Farm Belt

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 14 (AP)—Vice President Nixon predicted today the Republican presidential ticket will sweep the farm belt.

He avoided being drawn into a discussion as to whether Secretary of Agriculture Benson's appearance in the area will help or hurt President Eisenhower's chances.

At a news conference on arrival in Dayton, Nixon spoke optimistically of the outlook for the GOP in the country at large, in the Midwest, where farm income has been a major issue, and in the states which Nixon already has covered in his current 10,000 mile campaign swing.

Farm Belt

Then the vice president, who has traveled through a portion of the farm belt in the last two days, volunteered that, "I do not expect we will lose any of the farm states because of the farm program."

Nixon said that Minnesota, where he spoke yesterday, had been "the most doubtful," but that especially since President Eisenhower is giving the GOP campaign there a boost with a personal appearance, he expects Minnesota to remain in the Republican column.

Johnston Takes Issue

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said today a "cloak of secrecy" has been used by the Eisenhower administration to try to cover up "a variety of charges of improper actions in the operation of the postal service."

Johnston, chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, referred in a statement to public hearings last week on collection of Republican funds in Texas by J. H. (Jack) Porter, GOP national committeeman.

"Despite GOP attempts to give the hearings a political circus atmosphere a number of irrefutable facts were developed," Johnston said.

Hammarskjold To Fight Soviet Veto

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, undaunted by a Soviet veto, will press for a Suez Canal settlement in line with six requirements endorsed by the Security Council and a suggestion from Secretary of State Dulles.

He made that promise late last night after the 11-nation Council had unanimously approved the six requirements as agreed on by Britain, France and Egypt. The Soviet veto prevented Council endorsement of the 18-nation London plan as "suitably designed to bring about a settlement."

The canal question stems from Egypt's nationalization of the 103-mile waterway July 26. The London proposals, product of a 22-nation conference in the British capital in August, calls for international operation of the canal.

The six points of agreement are freedom of navigation in the canal for all nations; respect for Egypt's sovereignty; insulation of canal operations from "the politics of any country"; toll - fixing by agreement between Egypt and canal users; use of a fair part of the tolls for development; and arbitration of disputes between Egypt and the old expropriated Suez Canal Co.

Six Points

The six points were worked out in private conversations among Hammarskjold, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi in Hammarskjold's office between Tuesday and Friday.

The council voted unanimously in agreeing that "any settlement of the Suez question" should meet those requirements.

But a 9-2 majority failed to carry an endorsement of the London proposals because Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov vetoed the idea. Yugoslav Foreign Minister Koca Popovic also voted no.

The six points and the London proposals were put to the vote as separate parts of a British-French resolution.

Dulles told the Council afterward he considered it still had the question in hand "and that the secretary general may continue to encourage interchanges between the governments of Egypt, France and the United Kingdom."

Ike Celebrates 66th Birthday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—A happy President Eisenhower observed his 66th birthday quietly with his family today—and remarked smilingly that "things look better again" regarding prospects for easing the Suez Canal crisis.

The birthday celebration at the White House with his four small grandchildren stealing some of the limelight was a respite for the President in advance of four days of campaigning to the West Coast starting Tuesday.

"May God bless you all of yours," the Rev. Edward L. R. Elson told Eisenhower in wishing him a happy birthday from the pulpit at the National Presbyterian church, where the President attended morning services.

Back at the White House after the services the 50-piece Army band turned up on the south lawn for a surprise serenade in the perfect Indian summer weather. The band's appearance had been secretly arranged by Mrs. Eisenhower and she smiled happily as she stood beside her husband and listened to it play some of his favorite selections.

Surprise

"It was a most pleasant surprise and I want to thank you very much," the chief executive told the musicians.

Eisenhower's remark that "things look better again" regarding the Suez situation was made to a group of photographers who wished him a happy birthday after the President posed with his family for pictures at the White House.

Robert Schutz, Associated Press photographer, reported that Eisenhower said:

"It has been a wonderful birthday so far. It looked a little bad last night on the Suez thing, but things look better again today."

In saying things had looked "a little bad," the President obviously was alluding to Russia's veto in the United Nations Security Council last night of a British-French demand for endorsement of proposals for international control of the canal.

Later, however, the Council unanimously accepted six principles for continued negotiation. It apparently was that development the President had in mind in saying "things look better again."

Family

The President and members of his family sat on a white bench under a big magnolia tree, for the photographers to get pictures. It was there that the four grandchildren almost stole the show.

On hand were David, 8, Barbara Anne, 7, Susan, 4, and Mary Jean, 10 months, with their mother, Mrs. John Eisenhower. The youngsters' father, an Army major, arrived later after completing a round of Sunday morning duty at nearby Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Baby Mary Jean, held by her mother, was the center of attention. The President coaxed to no avail for a smile from the infant, who preferred to keep her eyes solemnly on the cameramen.

There was no word as to the nature of the gifts Eisenhower received from the family, but there were many of them.

The chief executive was accompanied to church this morning by Mrs. Eisenhower, chief in a black suit and a small white hat with a thin line of black trim. It was the First Lady's first trip outdoors in a week. She had been confined to the White House with a cold.

Stevenson Puts Polish On Speech

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill., Oct. 14 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson put the finishing touches today to the speech he hopes will give his campaign enough lift to pass President Eisenhower in the remaining three weeks of the presidential race.

He delivers the nationally televised speech from Chicago at 9:30 p.m. EST Monday over ABC.

The subject: Why he believes a way should be found to end the hydrogen bomb tests.

A decision to make the H-bomb Stevenson's primary campaign talking point was reached at a two-day weekend conference of Stevenson strategists at his farm here near Chicago.

Primary

Another primary campaign topic, Stevenson's top advisors said after today's session, will be Vice President Nixon.

These top Stevenson backers said they see a "public distrust" of Nixon and hope to capitalize on it. The hydrogen bomb testing issue has brought the Democratic nominee in sharp dispute with Eisenhower—just the sort of situation Stevenson advisors have been hoping for.

After Eisenhower told a news conference last week that he had said his last word on the subject, Stevenson declared there could be no foreclosure of debate and no last word as long as the bursting of hydrogen devices threatened the human race.

Stevenson met yesterday with aides at his 12-acre farm here to put the speech together. Today he held another conference, interrupting it long enough to race to church in nearby Lake Forest.

Stevenson has made it clear he believes that the Eisenhower administration has been remiss in not trying to end H-bomb tests.

Dewey Praises Nixon As Vice President

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey said today any suggestion that Vice President Nixon is sure to be the Republican presidential candidate in 1960 runs contrary to "all human experience."

The former New York governor said Nixon is the best vice president ever but he added, "I think only once or twice in history has a vice president been nominated for president."

Dewey said this in a filmed television interview — "Reporters' Roundup"—when asked if re-election of President Eisenhower would make Nixon the real leader of the GOP.

"So long as Dwight Eisenhower is president," Dewey said, "he's going to be running this country, and he'll run the Republican party..."

Leader Denies 'Alcatraz' Remark

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania said tonight he had never suggested Alcatraz as a retirement place for Vice President Nixon. He offered $1,000 to anyone who could show otherwise.

Leader told some 1,000 delegates to a New Jersey CIO Political Action Committee conference it was the Republicans, themselves, who had linked Nixon with the Alcatraz federal prison.

Jaycees At Work On Parade Plans

ARRANGEMENTS for the annual "Halloween Parade" locally are now being drawn up by Pocono Mountains Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Jaycees were asked to handle the assignment by the local business associations. Co-chairmen will be Peter Wyckoff and Robert Widmer.

Other plans in the making by local Jaycees:

A wide-open public meeting devoted to discussion of the proposed Stroudsburg Thruway. Committee chairman is Jerry Rubin. Date and time for the meeting will be announced.

Third Annual

The third annual "Voice of Democracy" contest to be held in area schools. Howard Popkin is chairman with Frank Ruane assisting in planning.

A membership campaign extending through the month of October. Jaycees are trying to stimulate interest in their program of "Young Men Of Action", slogan for the national organization.

Next meeting of the group will be a "swimming" meeting. It will be held at the YMCA main building in Stroudsburg.

Parents Visit Typical Class At Paradise

SWITZWATER — Parents of Paradise School attended a typical class with their children last week when the school bell rang at 8 p. m. They were encouraged to ask questions about their children's work later. Home room mothers welcomed the parents at the Parent-Teachers meeting.

A pantry shower for the hot lunch program drew expressions of appreciation from all members. A large table was rapidly heaped with piles of canned goods, staples, fruits and other edibles.

Mrs. Alfred Freeland presided over the business session. Patty Koerner, Paulette and Suzie Pretz, from the Girl Scouts, led the salute to the flag. Mrs. Edwin Bessecker was in charge of devotions.

Feature

The November meeting will feature a hobby and talent show for the program, and Girl Scout calendars will be on sale.

Mrs. David Toms reported on the kitchen curtain project and presented swatches of material from which the group made a selection. Mrs. Richard Leles will assist in making them.

A report on the state PTA convention at Harrisburg was given by Mrs. David Nelson. Miss Ruth Henry and Mrs. Harry Niering reported on the PTA workshop held on October 6.

Mrs. Thornton Counterman will be in charge of the "boot and rubber exchange."

Members voted in favor of giving money from PTA to the school for the annual Halloween party, and to have a penny supper in the near future.

Mrs. Clyde Cramer, Mrs. Horace Stiff, Mrs. Carl Lillius and Mrs. Edwin Bessecker served refreshments after the meeting.

Professors At Conference

KATHERINE McFarland and Ralph Smith, associate professors of speech at State Teachers College, attended the Pennsylvania Speech Association convention in Bethlehem.

Miss McFarland is chairman of the oral interpretation committee and a member of the hospitality committee for the convention.

An original "playlet" on the "Juxtaposition of the male and female in contemporary society" by Miss McFarland was a highlight of this morning's convention session on oral interpretation in Hotel Bethlehem. Smith will be seen in one of the key roles in the skit.

Hoover Denies Adlai's Charge

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 14 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., said tonight it is "absurd" to contend that the death of Joseph Stalin was responsible for stopping the Korean War.

His comments apparently were an administration response to statements made by Adlai Stevenson in Springfield, Mass., Oct. 6.

Mexico Bans Troupe

Area FFA Members To Receive Degree

TWO AREA Future Farmers of America will receive the American Farmer Degree this week at the 29th National FFA convention in Kansas City.

First of these is Robert W. Field, 20, of Bartonville (Stroudsburg RD 3), a graduate of Pocono Township High School in Tannersville.

The second is Frank B. Miller Jr., 22, of Bangor RD 2, a graduate of Bangor Area High School.

The American Farmer Degree is the highest honor conferred upon members by the national FFA organization. It is made upon the basis of a full career in the Future Farmer organization of which the individual is a member.

Field has created and maintained an enviable record in Monroe County in his efforts to restore a partially idle family farm to full action and productivity. Miller has been a leader not only in Bangor FFA affairs, but also in the State where he served as a vice president of the Pennsylvania association.

Viewing the Screens

ONE OF HOLLYWOOD's best directors, William Wyler, holder of two Oscars, will try to bring his magic to television tonight for the first time in a 90-minute presentation of W. Somerset Maugham's "The Letter" on ch. 3 and 4 at 8. The story, set in Singapore, centers about the trial of Mrs. Leslie Crosbie, wife of a rubber plantation manager, for the slaying of a gentleman acquaintance. She insists she killed in self-defense, but a letter in the possession of a Chinese woman, written by Mrs. Crosbie to the victim on the day of the shooting, casts doubts on her story.

Two harpists of exceptional ability will head the talent parade on the "Lawrence Welk's Top Tunes and New Talent" show at 9:30 on ch. 6 and 7. Also appearing will be a 21-year-old vocalist from Chicago, along with the Campaign Music Makers and vocalists.

When Lily Ruskin's son-in-law, Matt, puts his house up for sale, an agent advises that he is interested in it for his client, M. M. See what happens on "December Bride" at 9:30 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10, when the M. M. turns out to be Marjorie Main and not Marilyn Monroe.

An embittered young man finds warmth and understanding in an unexpected place in the "Studio One" dramatization "The Open Door" at 10 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10. After receiving a jail sentence for an argument with a truck driver, the young man is offered a job as a counterman in a diner near the jail while serving his term. This is quite a surprise to him, until he learns that this is the policy of H-block, where prisoners are on their honor.

When an actress learns that her acting days are about over she makes a desperate attempt to win back the husband and daughter she deserted 10 years earlier. See the outcome when Douglas Fairbanks Jr. presents "The Last Tour" at 10:30 p.m. on ch. 4.

TWIN BLADES OF MERCY in experiment were those belonging to helicopters. They flew over area, performed emergency "rescues" of stranded and wounded who were trapped by "flood." For Monroe Countians, it was a brief but forceful reminder of the not-too-distant past when this area's main lifeline was restored with aid of "whirlbirds."

Sports Car Owners To Hold Rally

A "SPORTS CAR RALLY"—the first of its kind ever held in Monroe County—is scheduled for the Saylorburg-Ross Common area this coming Saturday midnight.

Local enthusiasts for the small, maneuverable vehicles which make up the sports car category said over the weekend, however, that all persons interested in motorizing—regardless of car types they own and drive—are invited to attend.

The rally begins at midnight will "probably wind up about 6 or 7 a.m. and will cover a distance of about 150 miles," according to Joann Mayer, spokesman for local owners.

Organized Basis
Miss Mayer emphasized that the rally and the drive "are not to be confused with speed races or runs." Speed is not a part of sports car drives on an organized basis such as this she said and the accent is on safety and the handling of the vehicle.

Trophies will be awarded to top three owners in the drive. It will be called the "Ross Common Rally" and it is sponsored by the War-Hampton Motor Club, an organization made up of sports car owners from Warren County, N.J. and Northampton County, Mohrre has no official organization of its own but several local drivers are expected to take part in the rally.

Ski Club Elects Officers

BANGOR—Officers were elected by the Blue Valley Ski Club during the meeting at the Second Ward Fire Company, Bangor, last week. Vernon Roberts was named president; Henry Gambelli, vice-president; and Mrs. Mary Dorsey, secretary-treasurer.

William Scott also was named program chairman and James Houck, publicity chairman.

In Charge
James Houck, retiring president, was in charge. Ski insurance was discussed. Attendance Oct. 24 at the ski movie and fashion show to be staged in Philadelphia by Stein Erickson was planned. The ski races scheduled by the Eastern Pennsylvania Ski Council at Big Boulder Jan. 20 also were discussed.

Slides of skiing trips made by the club last season to Canada and Stowe, Vt., as well as views of a summer outing at Seaside Heights, N.J., were shown. The next meeting was arranged for Nov. 15 again at the fire hall.

Salem Church Begins Series Of 150th Anniversary Services

GILBERT—Members of the Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church yesterday attended the first in a series of services marking the 150th anniversary of the historic congregation.

The opening sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. G. Robert Booth, while special music was furnished by the Junior and Senior choirs of Jerusalem E-R Church, Trachsville.

At 7:30 tonight, the congregation will celebrate Community Night. During this service, local pastors will present greetings, and music will be furnished by the Salem Choir.

Banquet
A congregational banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, following which a sermon will be delivered by Rev. Perry L. Smith, field secretary of the Department of United Promotion for the denomination. Greetings will be presented by Rev. Frank W. Teske, president of the East Pennsylvania Synod.

Former pastors' night will be observed at 7:30 p.m., Friday, when former ministers and "spiritual sons" of the congregation will be given the opportunity to bring brief messages. The Indian Land Parish Choir will furnish special music.

The anniversary rites will come to a climax next Sunday, when Rev. James E. Wagner, president of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, delivers the anniversary sermon at 10:15 a.m. service, at which Holy Communion will be served.

An anniversary and homecoming service will be held at 2:30 p.m., Sunday.

Church To Feature Music

BANGOR—A musical program under the auspices of the Men's Brotherhood was presented at Trinity Lutheran Church yesterday.

Giuseppe Moschetti, organist and choirmaster at St. John's Lutheran Church, Allentown, and a girl's sextet under his direction, contributed to the entertainment.

Dedication
Maestro Moschetti, born in Tuscany, Italy, has dedicated himself to music, pursuing the study of almost every branch of the art—piano, orchestra, choral conducting and composition—from early youth but the grand organ always has been the instrument of his heart.

Graduated from the University of Pisa in art, philosophy and theology, before he was 20, he began his professional career as a concert organist in 1932. After performing throughout Europe and Great Britain, he came to America in 1936 and since then has appeared in many places both in Canada and the United States.

Jaycees To Conduct 'Vote' Drive

POCONO MOUNTAIN Jaycees are going to be conducting their own "get out the vote" drive this week.

Under general supervision of Stan Grace, chapter president, local members of the organization will make some door-to-door appeals to voters and use other policies to attempt to defeat voter apathy toward the coming election—a factor which pollsters feel may result in an abnormally light turnout in election booths.

Challenge
On the national scale the Jaycees have undertaken the "get out the vote" campaign as both a national and international challenge, Grace said.

James McGovern, Poughkeepsie, N.Y., national chairman sums it up this way:

"The entire world, and particularly those nations on the fringes of neutrality will be eyeing the reaction of Americans to their voting opportunity. We can't afford to let voter apathy distort other nations' viewpoints of democracy. We must get every voter to the polls Nov. 6."

Stars Advised On Clothes

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The ladies of the silver screen who are to meet Queen Elizabeth I in this year's royal command movie showing have been advised nicely but firmly to wear more clothes than those presented last year.

The revealing cut of evening gowns on the stars at the 1955 command showing scandalized all ranks of Londoners. To curtsy before the Queen this year are Marilyn Monroe, Anita Ekberg, Arlene Dahl, Brigitte Bardot, Belinda Lee and Joan Crawford.

"Yes, Christ Gave Us The CATHOLIC MASS"

Perhaps you don't think so, or perhaps you never gave it a thought. And possibly you regard this age-old Catholic worship as mere pomp and ceremony.

But if Our Lord did institute the Mass, is it not vitally important to you to find out? If He did intend it to be a continuing sacrifice... expressing Christian adoration, praise, contrition and petition... is it not too great a truth to be ignored?

"Bosh!" some will say. "Christ offered Himself on the cross once and for all. Nothing more is necessary." But wait! Jesus clearly indicated at the Last Supper that more is necessary. For after separately changing bread and wine into His Own body and blood... signifying the coming surrender of His life on the cross... Christ commanded the Apostles: "Do this in remembrance of me."

He was, obviously, instituting a continuing sacrifice in which Christians of every generation might join with Him in the most pleasing act of worship that can be offered to God. In this, as in other ways, the Apostles were to act as Christ's earthly ministers—as priests in the external offering of the sacrifice. And when they followed Christ's instructions, Our Lord would offer Himself in sacrifice—the victim would be present as He promised.

This is the heart and core of the Mass, which has been the central act of worship in every Catholic Church on the face of the earth since the time of the Apostles. As successors to the Apostles, the bishops and priests at the Mass recite the very words Christ used at the Last Supper. And when this is done, Christ is present on the altar—offering Himself as He had promised, "for the remission of sins." If this were not true, "Do this in remembrance of me" would be empty and meaningless words, which is inconceivable.

If you would like to know more about the Mass... why it attracts thousands upon thousands of people into Catholic churches everywhere on earth, every day... write today for an interesting, easy-to-understand pamphlet. We will gladly send it free and without obligation... in a plain wrapper. And nobody will call on you. Write today, ask for Pamphlet No. KC-6.

Government Should Set Up Controls Over Congressional Junkets Abroad

Congressional junkets to almost any spot on the globe are a common practice and, for the most part, pay off handsomely in a better understanding between the peoples of this country and other nations and territories.

There is no reason for not continuing, or even expanding, the inspection trips that serve a useful purpose such as negotiating international matters or helping lawmakers find solutions to weighty problems. But the junkets should be controlled; Congress should not be handed a blank check to take vacation jaunts under the guise of official business.

The Panama Canal is vital to the defense and economy of the United States, and Congress therefore inspects it with unfailing vigilance. A government audit has disclosed that in one recent 12-month period as many as 266 members of Congress, their aides and dependents sailed for Panama.

The chore is made less burdensome by reason of the fact that the trip is free for members of Congress and includes a "15-day luxury cruise," as the government Panama Line describes it, "to sunny Haiti, Panama and Panama Canal" on ships that offer the usual diversions plus "delicious food and wines."

Who does the inspecting have been kept a secret. President Eisenhower, who was questioned about the matter at his press conference, doesn't think it should be a secret.

"When anyone travels on a government ship, I know of no reason on earth why the passenger list shouldn't be published the day the ship sails," the President said.

If taxpayers are required to be spring and autumn vacation hosts for members of Congress, they surely have a right to know who their guests are.

Taxpayers who would like to help inspect the Panama Canal will be welcome aboard. At from $242 to $597 per taxpayer.

Japan Cooperating In Restricting Flow Of Textiles To United States

Japan's offer to put government curbs on her textile exports to the United States starting next year has been favorably received both in official and textile industry circles in this country.

The tension should now be relieved—with a little additional understanding on both sides of the controversy. Japan, on her part, should understand that the Federal Government can do nothing about it if state laws call for discriminating signs in retail shops saying, "Japanese products sold here." (Tokyo wanted the Federal Government to crack down on this type of boycott.)

Washington can only point out to the Southern states concerned that Japan is one of our biggest buyers of raw cotton. And that any discrimination by boycotts—or high tariffs, which the industry had been screaming for—is self-defeating. We've got to keep on helping Japan along the road to a healthy economy, preferably by foreign trade—or lose a valuable, strategic ally to the Communist bloc.

With this new evidence of good faith by Tokyo, the American textile industry on its part should ease its efforts to make Japan a whipping boy for its own problems.

George Sokolsky Says...

High Cost Of Living Involves Factors Which Neither Candidate Can Control

James Finnegan, Adlai Stevenson's campaign manager, in reply to some questions from May Craig on "Meet the Press," emphasized that the high cost of living is bound to influence the female vote which in 1956 will be larger than the male vote. He believed that when the realistic womenfolk look at their grocery bills, they would vote for Adlai Stevenson. As the cost of living is high, the question arises, could or would or might Stevenson bring that cost of living down?

The question then must be asked: What are the ingredients of the high prices which we have to pay for what we buy?

The first ingredient in the United States is high taxes; the second, high wages; the third, costly government subsidies to industry, labor and agriculture; the fourth, pensions and other benefits to Veterans; and finally, the enormous cost of interest charges on the government debt. Also to be included is the depreciation of currency which is due to all these causes which are the inevitable results of war and post-war economic activities of government.

Now, the question to be answered is whether either candidate, Eisenhower or Stevenson, is prepared to make any savings in these items. For instance, which of them is prepared to advocate lower wages and fewer fringe benefits with the object of bringing prices down? So far the silence is startling. In fact, thus far, the only answer to high wages has been automation where it is possible, but in the automobile industry, Walter Reuther is already meeting automation by something he calls the guaranteed annual wage which is an extension of unemployment insurance. In a word, the cost of production not only stays up but goes up—as must prices.

Edgar Queney, Chairman of the Monsanto Chemical Company, in a speech, made this point:

"Monsanto's hourly rates in its United States plants are more than four times the rates it pays in its British plants, and five times those paid by its German competitors; and, in many cases, the productivity of British and German labor is as great as American. In some instances, German productivity is even higher than ours, particularly in the construction industry. German bricklayers lay 1200 bricks a day; in St. Louis the fixed maximum output is 500."

"American factories cost more to build than European. An American chemical plant costs twice as much as its German counterpart; our laboratories, at least three times as much. With the exception of Britain, if one includes their dividend tax, American corporate income taxes are higher than those of any other industrial nation. Hence, to yield the same rate of return on capital, net profits in the United States must be more than twice as much as, for instance, in Germany."

Fundamentally this is not only a problem of price but also in-

The Once Over

"Home, Sweet Race Track" A famous race track is to be developed for a big housing project. This has happened around the country with several other race courses and we wonder whether in such developments the mood of the turf doesn't linger and penetrate homes spread over the spots where mutual windows, starting gates, paddocks and photo finishes once stood. Is such a home haunted by turf figures? ... Is the thud of hooves heard in the night, and whispers of "What does Max like?"

Suppose a man buys a bungalow on the ground once occupied by a dozen $2 windows. ... will he forever hear cries of "Three tickets on Number Seven." ... Ya gave me the wrong ticket, I'm telling ya, and "Make it snappy; they're at the post?" In a homestead standing where the stretch-run once began will there inevitably be an air of tenseness, suspense and hurry, with mother exclaiming late dinner with "I was carrying too much weight," and pop justifying a tardy arrival with "I couldn't find an opening when I wanted to make my move?"

Will an aroma of hotdogs, hot tips and hot arguments forever hang over a housing project on a former racing oval? Shudda Haddim, the well-known horse player, thinks so. "I wouldn't buy a house there without a form sheet to give me the builder's past performances," he says. "I would want a chart so I could see what the plumber did last time out and find out what was the best workout the electrician ever had."

"You would want handicap figures on the real estate developer?" we suggested.

"Certainly," said Shudda Haddim. "Maybe a developer ain't ready. Maybe he's been hiding his real form and never had real class anyhow. He could be just getting himself in shape. Suppose I got a hot tip that a bungalow was a good buy and somebody slipped me the dope that the builder wasn't really trying!"

We remarked that when a super building project is carried out on the site of a race track a buyer could even choose a residence and find it was a late scratch.

"Sure," said Shudda Haddim. "And don't forget that in buying a house there you would want to be sure whether it was good over a distance."

"There is a lot in what Mr. Haddim says. We suppose that naming apartment houses, duplexes, etc., would be interesting. 'Across-the-Board Manor,' ... 'On-the-Nose Villa,' ... 'Long

Why Must Novelists Stress Dirty Language?

The book you can't buy just now (until a fresh batch gets printed) is Peyton Place, by Grace Metalious. In such demand is it that I've had great difficulty in finding a copy, and I didn't even want one.

Why the interest? Is it a novel to tank with the "sublime masterpiece of Hemingway? With the dialogue of an O'Hara? An exalted theme of a triumphant human spirit?

Far from it. This gentle tome, written by a young mother about "life in one New England village" abounds in incest, rape and moral cretins. So frightful and revolting is it that, as yet unbanished, Hollywood has bought movie rights for a reported $125,000 and curious readers are elbowing their way to the bookshelves. So bad is it that the author's lawyer-husband was fired from his job which is what set fire to national curiosity.

What is the place of obscenity in literature? When the realists believe it necessary to inject outburst verbs into their work, we have defended their decision. "Creative artists must be free to choose their material," we tell ourselves. Genius at work must be free, lest it be genius no longer. I have yet to read any passage embroidered with four-letter filth that was improved by the addition, yet one must allow for inadequate skill—even in the best writers we have.

It has occurred to more readers than publishers imagine that some of these lads sprinkle their books with dirty words to remind us they are "all boys." That they can rip off revolting terms as foul as any kid on the block writing on the toilet walls. Opal sunsets are one thing these they can handle with one hand bandaged.

They enjoy being considered "creative" and all, but let none doubt their status as down-to-the-sod linguists. Somebody might think writers were effeminate! Gad!

Mrs. Metalious, apparently, wants to prove that women writers aren't effeminate, either; that at least one can be just as ugly-spoken as any man writing. She makes the mistake, all too common, of assuming that dirty words, dirty themes, make great writers great.

"If sex with sodomy sauce is found in literary art, is that not what made it art?" So her erroneous reasoning would appear to travel. And in what appears to be a calculated hoax the young woman has not depicted real life in any village anywhere but rather revealed what abnormalities some minds find fascinating.

Frauds and psychotics, as well as genuine artists, ride the train of "free expression." And I wish someone with elevated taste might channel them elsewhere than into the ranks of art. My patience with the newer brigade is running thin.

Try and Stop Me

Roots... Irving Berlin was the son of an immigrant rabbi. He wrote his first song while employed as a waiter in a Bowery ratkeller. The late W. C. Fields ran away from home and poverty, and was a hobo—not a very good one, either, to hear him tell it—before he broke in as a juggler in vaudeville...

As Samuel Himmelf, paper tycoon, points out, the muse of comedy bestows favors on the lowly as well as the rich. The ability to entertain and create laughter is a gift that cannot be measured in terms of money.

Israel To Receive Loan From Export-Import Bank

Washington, Oct. 14 — Israel is getting a $75,000,000 loan from the Export-Import Bank in a few weeks.

This money will not be for arms or any other military equipment.

It is being granted solely for the purchase of American goods, commodities and machinery, particularly agricultural and irrigation.

However, the large loan will have important indirect effect on weapons procurement by Israel. The $75,000,000 will free other funds which can be used to speed up and increase the buying of urgently needed planes, tanks, artillery and other armaments from countries, such as Canada and France, that are making them available to Israel.

Its year-old request for $65,000,000 of U.S. weapons, especially F-86 fighter jets to counter the Mig-15 that Russia has sold the Arabs, is still pending. There is no likelihood anything will be done on this for the present.

The Export-Import Bank is making this loan on the recommendation of one of its loan committees headed by William C. Welk, a bank economist. Welk's group considered the matter for some three months.

The loan also has the approval of President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles, Treasury Secretary George Humphrey, Samuel Waugh, head of the Export-Import Bank, and a majority of its directors.

New York State Attorney General Jacob Javits Republican candidate for the seat being voluntarily vacated by Democratic Senator Herbert Lehman, has been vigorously urging the loan. Several weeks ago Javits conferred with the President and Dulles on the matter. Later he told newsmen he had been given assurances the loan would be granted in the near future.

Since then Javits has telephoned Washington repeatedly pressing for action.

Note: Former President Truman will visit Israel next year. He has been invited a number of times, and recently indicated he is planning to make the trip in 1957.

No Let-Up — Military planners in the Pentagon seem to be unconcerned about the powerful opposition in the last Congress to continued large foreign aid spending.

Although this congressional opposition was so strong that it slashed more than $1,000,000,000 from President Eisenhower's budget despite his repeated pleas, the military planners are seeking another increase in these funds.

They are asking for $3,000,000,000 for foreign military aid in the backstage discussions now underway on the budget that will be submitted to the new Congress in January.

That total is $1,000,000,000 more than Congress voted for this purpose for this fiscal year.

Rev. Wunder Present At Convention

By Jim Riley

East Stroudsburg was represented at the 20th Biennial Convention of The United Lutheran Church in America.

The convention was held in Harrisburg and the East Stroudsburg representative was Rev. William F. Wunder.

Rev. Wunder is pastor of Grace Lutheran Church.

More than 700 delegates and several thousand visitors were in attendance.

Most of the session was held in the Forum Building.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schumann and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kraut, all of Brooklyn, recuperated from the results of the World Series during the past weekend. They were guests at the Feller-Martin Farm in Effort.

Marshall Neyhart, East Stroudsburg Justice of the Peace, is currently confined to his bed by illness.

He would like very much to receive cards and letters from his many friends — not to mention visits.

Leo Heller, well known golfer in Monroe County, is scheduled to put on a demonstration at the next Pocono Turf Association meeting.

The meeting is slated for Shawnee Inn and Country Club tomorrow.

Heller is currently associated with a lawn and golf supply company.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wicks, who live just outside the borough limits of East Stroudsburg, are just about settled after returning from a lengthy trip.

The trip carried the Wicks as far south as Mexico.

George Sopko, High Point Inn, Mount Pocono, is calling for a national convention of the Indoor Bird Watchers.

The convention is scheduled to take place this weekend.

Paul "Candy" Miller, one of East Stroudsburg High's all-time outstanding athletes, recently joined the forces of Wyckoff-Edinger.

Paul is also in the process of building a new home.

Joe Chause, another former East Stroudsburg High student, recently talked to former school mate Joe Shea via radio.

Shea is a student at West Point.

Eddie Fisher and Frank Sinatra last week formed a new music publishing company.

Fisher, a frequent visitor at Shawnee Inn and Country Club, may have picked up the idea from our own Fred Waring???

Overture: The diplomats behaved like Allies toward a Britisher titled "The Reluctant Debutante" at the Henry Miller. The light-as-cork spoof (it was generally agreed) has the proper feathery touch plus a talented troupe of pranksters...

The critics threw a no-hitter against "Sixth Finger in a Five-Finger Glove". Its first night was followed by its last...

"Too Late the Phalarope" lit up the Belasco's marquee but blew a fuse on the Belasco stage. It has some fire, fervor and poetic intensity, but it is a bore a lot of the time... Meanwhile, back at

The Moon-Pitchas: "Between Heaven and Hell," a generally interesting military saga, reminds you: War is Hell—Terry Moore is Heaven... # CAP Successful In Rescue Operation

Officers, Men Praised For Work

HISTORY repeated itself over the weekend in Monroe County, with some major improvements.

A year, one month and 26 days after the August 18, 1955 flood the Civil Air Patrol and U. S. Air Force restaged the disaster.

This time there were hundreds of planes and helicopters in the air. There were simulated "rescues" saving the lives of dozens of flood-trapped men and women. There were food drops and parachute deliveries of "badly-needed medical supplies."

When it was over, Civil Air Patrol officials pronounced the experiment "highly successful." They had special praise for operations conducted within Monroe County.

Dubbed "Operation Hi-Water" the well-staged "disaster" was a triumph for Civil Air Patrol officers and workers and their Air Force counterparts. Heading up the CAP activities, with participants from all over the State, was Col. Phillip F. Neuweiler, Allentown, commander of the Pennsylvania Wing.

In Monroe County, with operations centralized at Mount Pocono airport, the base commander was Maj. William Bechtel. His assistants: Capt. Rudolph Blitz Jr., assistant base commander; 1st Lt. Calvin Pryor, operations officer; Maj. F. W. Shafer was in charge of medical facilities and emergency "hospital" arrangements.

Throughout both days, Mount Pocono airport resounded with the steady buzz and roar of aircraft—about 25 "light" CAP planes and three helicopters, according to Bechtel.

Bechtel said there were about "85 senior personnel and 50 cadets" working at the airport Sunday on the closing day of the experiment. The local unit—Group 1400—was supported by a mobile unit from Philadelphia.

Bechtel said that Col. Neuweiler was "very impressed by the overall operation and said that the units here in Monroe County looked very well... especially the field hospital and our communications set-up."

The local commander noted that representatives of the press and newsreel services were on hand to observe the experiment. A national firm of drug manufacturers made a "parachute drop of polio vaccine and anti-typhoid serum," Bechtel said.

All of the program went off without undue incident. No "accidents" were reported. There were some minor quirks and kinks, but most of these were ironed out as soon as they were reported to officials.

Serving as an area headquarters for the operation was the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton airport. There nearly 150 planes congregated at one time or another during the weekend to take part in the project.

Officials were lavish in their applause for CAP volunteers. Maj. Gen. Walter R. Agee, national CAP commander, said this was the first genuine coordinated project carried out by CAP and the Air Force. He said he hopes it will prove to be only the beginning of a broad, long-range, deep-running alliance between the two for the good of the nation.

Art Course On Schedule

AN ART course featuring drawing, painting and sculpturing will start Tuesday, Oct. 18 at the YMCA. It will be conducted by Dr. Eugene Oxendine, head of the art department at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Students will work from still life and models in oil, clay or charcoal. The class will be held every Thursday night except Thanksgiving from 7:30 to 9:30, finishing Dec. 20. An instruction fee will be charged.

For four scout units a Cub Pack, a Boy Scout Troop, an Explorer Squadron, and an Explorer Post. Wednesday night at 7:30 in Roseto Scout Hall the final session of the training course for Cub leaders will be held. Some 18 area mothers, cubmasters, and other Cubbers have participated in this course with Mrs. Olga Bickford as the instructor.

James R. Charron, chairman, has invited members of the Blue Mountain District Committee to his home Thursday night at 8 p.m. for the monthly District Committee meeting.

Two Women Injured In Wreck On Route 611 At Tobyhanna

TOBYHANNA—Two women were injured here yesterday afternoon in a two-car collision which resulted in damage totaling some $1,000.

Mrs. Justine Kozak, 44, of Wyoming, Pa., suffered lacerations of the head and legs, while Gladys Jackson, 61, of Philadelphia, received a possible fracture of the collarbone. Both were admitted to General Hospital where they were reported in fair condition last night.

Thieves Enter Walter Kresge Service Station

SWITZWATER—Thieves broke into the Walter Kresge service station here sometime between Friday night and Saturday morning and made off with merchandise valued at some $50.

Mount Pocono State Police reported the intruders gained entrance by breaking the glass on the front door and lifting the latch. The thieves escaped with two tires, and two tubes, and other items, troopers said.

Schools Face Huge Shortage

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The U. S. Office of Education estimated today that public schools opened this fall with a shortage of 247,000 classrooms. It said this many were needed to handle increased enrollments alone, making no allowance for rooms lost by fire, storm or obsolescence.

The office estimated 32,700,000 pupils enrolled in public schools this fall, a five million increase since the fall of 1952. At 50 pupils per room, it said, this would call for 167,000 new classrooms since 1952-53 for new pupils alone.

With a 1952 backlog estimated by the office at 312,000, this would make a total need of 479,000. Meanwhile, however, the office estimates 232,000 new rooms have been built, leaving a balance of 247,000 still needed.

With about 50,000 school districts in the nation, this would average about five per district, but some districts are pinched far worse than others.

Knights To Meet

FATHER BUTLER Council Knights of Columbus will be held today at the Italian Club. The meeting is set for 8 p.m.

Chess Game Lasts Over Two Hours

MITCHELL R. Stackhouse, one of the founders of the Stroudsburg Chess Club, who has not been at many sessions since he sustained a fracture of the leg last Spring, greeted his friends at the club at the regular meeting last week. He teamed with Louis Mondelle of East Stroudsburg to play the longest, most stubbornly contested game seen at the club for a long time. The players started hostilities at 7:15 p.m. and the game ended in victory for Stackhouse at 9:20 p.m.

Shortest game of the session was won by William P. Deering from Bernard J. Roan, Barrett township, in about 15 minutes of play. A very unusual situation arose. The Barrett player, with white, advanced his queen's pawn in his first move and Deering, flanking this piece, advanced his queen to check his opponent's queen. Roan defended with a pawn and the attacking queen was able to penetrate the enemy's line of defense and capture the rook on the opposing army's right flank. This caused such a disruption that a number of pieces were lost and Roan conceded.

Deering then resumed a series he has been playing with Sidney Kushner, youngest member of the club. They played four games each taking two.

Previously A. J. Vlossak, Mount Pocono, had defeated Kushner one game.

Roan took over action with Vlossak and the first game resulted in a tie. Roan handily won the next two.

The members were happy to greet John Erickson, a teacher in New York state, who was home here for Columbus Day. Erickson and Frank Merwarth played two brilliant games, the banner of victory inclining to the side of the latter.

Services Held For George Smale

FUNERAL services for George H. Smale, 76, late of Gilbert were held at 1:30 yesterday in Kresge funeral home.

Rev. G. Robert Booth officiated. Interment was made in Gilbert Cemetery. Nephews served as pallbearers. They were: Charles and Ralph Beer, Kenneth Barrall, Woodrow Solt, Jacob and Harvey Dietrick.

Both women were treated by Dr. E. O. Headrick, Mount Pocono, before being removed to the hospital by the Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot ambulance.

Rudy Bonser Shoots Deer

SAYLORSBURG—The first howl and arrow hunter to report a deer kill here was Rudy Bonser, who brought down a young buck on the Clayton Altenhouse property, "Summer Hill," last week.

Bonser's first arrow struck the deer in the neck, the second pierced his heart. This is the second year young Bonser hunted with bow and arrow.

Women To Meet At Buck Hill

BUCK HILL FALLS—Counseling will be the subject for the 36th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of Deans of Women to be held here at The Inn on Nov. 2 and 3.

Ruth A. Nailor, of Central Bucks High School, Doylestown, is president of the Association, which includes in its membership the deans of women's and counselors of women of Pennsylvania high schools and private schools as well as colleges and universities.

Four Speakers

Four speakers have been listed to discuss aspects of the convention theme: "Improving Human Relations Through Counseling Services."

They include Dr. Martin P. Chvorovsky, director of the Albert M. Greenfield Center for Human Relations, University of Pennsylvania; Dr. Ruth Stang, professor of education, Teachers College, Columbia University; Dr. M. F. Ashley Montagu, English-born anthropologist and author of various books in the field of human relations; and Dr. Elizabeth Lee Vincent, professor of Human Development at Chatham College.

Lions List Committee

BANGOR — Rev. Charles J. Starzer, of Roseto, was introduced by Harold LaPenna as a new member of the club during the meeting of the Bangor Lions Club at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church last week. Invocation was offered by the Rev. Starzer.

President Daniel Phillips, who presided, appointed a Charter Night committee composed of Dr. Wesley Stancome, chairman; Larry Miller, Thomas Verona, Duane Krauss, Wallace Ruth and LaPenna. Richard Werner, Miller and Verona also were named to serve as judges at the local Halloween parade Oct. 31.

Announcement was made that the directors will meet at Smith's pharmacy next Thursday at 9 p.m. The next club meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 26, at 6:30 p.m. at St. John's.

A STUDY IN STEEL: This heavy steel safe containing several checks and about $150 in cash was carted from the Pocono Township High School to a desolate spot off a dirt road leading to Poplar Valley, where it was discovered yesterday afternoon. The safe was carted away from the school sometime over the weekend, and then bashed open. State Police described the job as that of "crude amateurs."

Safe Stolen From School

TANNERSVILLE—Thieves who police described as "crude amateurs" broke into the Pocono Township High School over the weekend and carted off a heavy steel safe containing about $150 in cash, a batch of checks, and some stamps.

The safe was found battered and empty yesterday afternoon off a winding dirt road leading to Poplar Valley.

The money was gone, but the checks and stamps had been left behind. Both represented premium payments for student insurance. Stroudsburg State Police said the intruders broke a window in the front door of the school sometime between Friday night and yesterday morning. Then they unlocked the door.

One inside, the thieves headed for the office of the principal, Lawrence R. Wise, where they broke the window on that door, and then went inside.

Later they left with the safe, weighing several hundred pounds. The break was discovered by a school employee yesterday morning and reported to the principal. Wise, in turn, notified the State Police.

Yesterday afternoon, troopers received a call from Calvin T. Metzgar, Easton manager for the Metropolitan Edison Co.

Metzgar informed them that he was out driving with his family and had driven up a dirt road leading to Poplar Valley.

Near the summit, Metzgar had pulled his car off the road and got out to look over the scenery. It was then he came upon the battered safe.

State Police were immediately notified and an investigation was made of that area.

Adult Class To Register

UN Is Town Meeting Of The World

The Progressive Woman's Club of the West End started their new year with an address by Dr. Albert W. Gondebein, professor of European History at Lafayette College, on "America and the United Nations."

He characterized the United Nations as the "town-meeting of the world," pointing out that it can mediate and advise, but cannot dictate, order armed forces into action, nor can it even, consider, interfere or discuss international affairs without the consent of the interested parties.

Mrs. Blanche Mills and Mrs. Weston Fenner, co-chairmen of the international relations department, had arranged the program. Special music featured the Junior choir of the Broadheadville Zion Union Church under the direction of Mrs. LaVerne McNett and Mrs. LaVerne Stephens.

Mrs. George Hatler presided at the business meeting. Seating was the Chestnut Hill High School in Broadheadville. A social hour followed with Mrs. Arlington Martin as chairman of the hostesses committee, which included Mrs. Lloyd Mackles, Mrs. Robert Arner, Mrs. Willard Kreeger, Mrs. LeRoy Hinton, Mrs. John Martucci, Mrs. Crigen Mitchell, Mrs. G. Robert Booth, Mrs. Amzi Altomose, Mrs. Charles Arnold, Mrs. Leon Keller, Mrs. William Pirrung, Mrs. Clarence Horn, Mrs. Otto Mills Jr., and Mrs. Frank Christian.

Caravan Guests Of Tannersville Charge WSCS

Tannersville — The Women's Societies of the Tannersville Methodist Church entertained the national district officers of the Philadelphia Conference at a potluck luncheon at 12:30 on Friday at the Redders Hall adjoining the church.

Invocation was given by the pastor, Rev. LeRoy Bernard. After the luncheon, the officers conducted an inspirational service. Mrs. Marjorie Canfield, president of the Wesley Chapel WSCS, led the opening devotions; Mrs. LeRoy Bernard led in prayer. Mrs. Harold Stiff of Stroudsburg, area leader, introduced the district president, Mrs. Harry Magill who introduced her officers. Mrs. Henry A. Frye, conference president, spoke briefly.

Represented at the meeting were all five churches of the charge: Wesley Chapel, Tannersville, Redders, McMichael's and Effort Methodist. The officers of the Caravan next went to Nesquehoning for the next stop on the tour.

Wesley Chapel WSCS invited the Caravan for next October.

Special Meeting Called

Tobyhanna — The Women's Society of Christian Service will meet Tuesday night at the Tobyhanna Methodist Church, in special session. Rev. Dr. Daniel C. Broadhead will speak on "The Week of Prayer and Self-Denial." Members are asked to attend and to bring a friend.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Things have come to a pretty pass when I get so involved in schedules that I can't even take time out to give a flying saucer a proper look. Between phone calls, I did keep half an eye on it while pulling on my stockings and sewing fast my ear-rings.

But at that point, even if a little man from Mars had come knocking at the back door, all I'd have had time to do would have been to invite him to come along to the Y-Gradale banquet.

But he'd have enjoyed it as much as I did. Squirrels on the program, little squirrels sitting on autumn leaves for favors, but nothing squirrely about the food — especially the almonds in the string beans or about the program, which went off like clockwork.

Besides the fact that you get served first, another advantage of sitting at the head table is that you can watch the reaction of the audience to the speaker. In fact, I could see them better than Tom Waring who had to face the piano. And they were really loving his "Bag of Songs."

Last week was a week of feasting on the fat of the land for me, and it's not the fault of the clubs that I don't get fat. Thursday night was the Stroud Community Club's big do — and one of the things that impressed me there was the quality of their new members. Most of them have served a pretty rugged apprenticeship in the Junior Women and should be invaluable to the new club, too.

So far I don't see a single free meal in sight for this week, but plenty of refreshments so I guess I'll manage.

Mrs. Stewart Douglas Stofflet

Stofflet-Manento Wedding

Bangor — Miss Marguerita Helen Manento, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Manento of Pen Argyl, became the bride of Stewart Douglas Stofflet, son of Mrs. Ervin G. Ace Sr., of Pen Argyl RD 1 and the late Russell Stofflet at a ceremony at St. Peter's Lutheran Church on October 13.

Rev. Luther B. Killek performed the ceremony. Mrs. Catherine Carling was organist and Miss Pauline Aulaisio was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother Gust Manento, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta, fashioned with a high neckline, sleeves and a fitted bodice of lace with a lace peplum. The bouffant skirt of tulle ended in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of nylon tulle was attached to a bridal crown of pearls and sequins. She carried a prayer book with white orchid and stapanotis.

Miss Jeanne Albane of Wind Gap was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Mamie Verone, cousin of the bride, of West Bangor, and Miss Virginia DeVito, of Pen Argyl.

The maid of honor wore a rose gown of taffeta with a crown to match and carried a cascade bouquet of sea foam green pompons. The bridesmaids wore sea foam green taffeta and carried cascade bouquets of rose pompons.

Melvin Steinmetz of Bangor, RD 3, was best man, while Charles Stofflet, brother of the bridegroom, and Affin Eagert, brother-in-law, served as ushers. A reception was held at the Blue Valley Farm Show Building where the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Florida. On their return they will make their home at 315 Bobbitt Ave., Pen Argyl. They are both graduates of Pen Argyl Area Joint High School. The bride is bookkeeper at Marie Sportswear Co., and the bridegroom is employed at Kresgeville Manufacturing Co.

Mrs. Somers Again President Of Altar, Rosary

Canadensis — The Altar and Rosary Society, St. Ann's R. C. Church re-elected all officers at the meeting October 4. Mrs. Thomas Somers, president; Mrs. Carl Texter, vice president; Mrs. Thomas Little, secretary; Mrs. Jack Rush, treasurer.

Plans were made for a card party at Hillside Lodge on October 18 at 8 p.m. Mrs. Thomas Lewis is chairman. The group voted to purchase a new Holy Communion server for the church. Members were asked to offer special prayers for peace during UN week, October 21, after hearing a letter from the UN read by Mrs. Thomas Little. Reports from the National Council of Catholic Women were read by Mrs. Somers and Mrs. Texter.

Mrs. Alden Bender and Mrs. Lester Caulfield were appointed in charge of the Halloween party for children to be held Sunday night, October 28.

Mrs. Somers named committee chairman: ways and means, Mrs. Michael Sopko and Mrs. Joseph Gillespie; membership, Mrs. Helen Megargel; publicity, Mrs. Carl Texter; cards and flowers, Mrs. Philip Paquin.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gillespie and Mrs. Thomas Little.

AAUW Board Tuesday

Executive board of the American Association of University Women will meet Tuesday night at 8 at the home of Mrs. Charles Albert, 214 North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

PTA Salute To Scouts

Broadheadville — Chestnut Hill Parent Teachers Association will feature "Salute to Scouting" at their meeting on Thursday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Church Circle To Visit Home In Hazleton

Portland — The Fidelity Circle of the Portland Presbyterian church met in the social rooms of the church on Tuesday night. In the absence of the President, Mrs. Ethel Seeley, who is confined to her home with illness, Miss Alice Delp presided at the meeting. Mrs. David R. Edwards led in prayer.

Mrs. Edwards reported on the Presbyterian meeting which was held in Easton on Friday, October 5 and explained the workings of the organization and the duties to the Presbytery both in work and finance. Testimonies of Christian people in foreign lands were read by Mrs. G. J. Davies, Mrs. Lela Williams, Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter and Mrs. Everett Hughes.

Mrs. C. J. Kneeling gave a report on the proposed trip to the Presbyterian Home for the aging at Hazleton, Pa. on Saturday afternoon, October 13 and urged all that can go to make the trip. Gifts will be taken to the guests at the Home, and a religious program given.

Y-Gradales, 100 Strong, Here For State Convocation

Local Y-Gradales relaxed last night after the weekend State Convocation of Y-Gradale held here, the climax of months of work by the local leaders. Mrs. Russell Scheller had a double responsibility presiding as state president and as a member of the local planning committee, but all of the local members carried a share of the responsibility.

About 100 delegates attended the convocation which was voted one of the most successful. Headquarters were at the YMCA with delegates quartered in private homes. Workshop sessions and tribunal meetings with the election and installation of new officers formed the meat of the convocation with the social aspects prominent in the banquet on Sunday night and the luncheon on Sunday. The new officers were installed after the delegates had attended morning worship at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Robert O'Neill of Franklin is the new president; Miss Audrey Shade, Waynesboro, vice president in the east; Miss Lee Goldstrom, Elizabethtown, vice president in the west; and Miss Grace Welsh, Bayertown, secretary-treasurer.

Theme of the conference was "Strength Through Fellowship" and speakers at both the banquet and luncheon emphasized the theme. At the banquet, Rev. W. Hamilton Aulenbach, pastor of Christ Episcopal and St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Germantown, said that a spiritual rebirth, a losing oneself to Christian life as a man loses himself in his work, is the way to happiness. "Nobody is happy in his sins," he said, "but everybody wants to be good, desires to help, and to love, but until he realizes he is a spiritual being he is always losing the battle." And in realizing that all men are spiritual beings we will know that people are to be loved and things are to be used, not the opposite.

Mrs. James Dietrich, president of the local gradale, presided at the banquet with Mrs. James Farry of Stroudsburg serving as toastmaster. Rev. Harold MacMurray, Barrett, gave the invocation. Following the speech, Tom Waring entertained with his famous "Bag of Songs," receiving a warm reception. Alex Bensinger, vice president of the local YMCA, welcomed the delegates on behalf of the board, and John Wilson served as song leader.

Thomas Leinbach, superintendent of Community General Hospital, Reading, at the luncheon on Sunday stressed the "Four Pearls" of Y-Gradale, spiritual growth, personal growth, Christian fellowship, and service to others.

Men's Night At Portland Womans Club

Portland — The annual Men's Night program of the Portland Woman's Club will be held Tuesday night, October 16, at 8 in the Portland Baptist Church. A business meeting will be held at 7:30 in the social room.

The program, "Musical Hodge-Podge" will be presented by Marie Shepherd of Maplewood, N. J. A lyric-coloratura soprano and concert comedienne, Miss Shepherd will range from grand opera to juke box number. Key-note of her career has been a rich trained soprano voice to which she has added dramatic impersonations. She studied at the Philadelphia Polytechnic Institute, the Clarke Conservatory of Philadelphia and the Juillard School of Music, N. Y. She is a member of the National Association of Teachers of Singing and an artist member of the N. J. Federation of Music Clubs.

At the club's executive board meeting last week at the home of the president, Mrs. Ernest Courtney, Delaware Ave., plans were announced for the Northampton County meeting. It will be held at Stone Church on October 24 with the Bangor Senior and Junior Clubs as hostesses. Registration is scheduled for 3:30 and the dinner will be served at 6:15. Reservations must be made by October 19.

A vote of thanks was given Miss Ruth Williams who is resigning as Girl Scout leader. The Scouts, sponsored by the Women's Club, will have as their leaders, Mrs. Horace Rusing, Mrs. Bruce Starner, Miss Barbara Hughes and Miss Joan Ackerman. ## Carter Family Birthdays At Posten Home

The Carter family celebrated four birthdays and a family reunion last week at the home of Mrs. Grace Posten, 49 Fulmer Ave. Those present were Roy Carter, Mrs. Ruth C. Jones, Mrs. Grace C. Posten, of Stroudsburg; Mrs. Lillian C. Ramsey of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Mrs. Ellen C. Smith of Chicago, Ill.; nieces, Mrs. Claretta Tutson and Mrs. Beatrice Hutson. Another niece, Mrs. Patricia Weaver, called from Racine Wis., to offer best wishes.

Entertaining were Mrs. Eleanor Campbell and Mrs. Helen White.

Rector, Wife Welcomed At Christ Church

The members of Christ Episcopal Church held a reception for Rev. and Mrs. Charles A. Park, their new Rector and his wife, in the Parish House on Thursday evening. A large crowd was on hand to welcome the new Rector and his wife, and members of the Vestry received the guests.

Kennard Lewis gave a short address of welcome and Rev. Park responded, and the rest of the evening was spent in getting acquainted.

Refreshments were served and the tables were decorated in yellow mums and autumn leaves, also beautiful white and purple orchid plants. Mrs. W. E. Anderson and Mrs. Walter J. Werkheiser presided at the refreshment table. Mrs. Andrew and Mrs. James T. Kilson were co-chairmen of the reception committee assisted by members of the Altar Guild and St. Mary's Guild.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Groucho Marx made a cute remark on his telecast the other evening, poking gentle fun at the National "Weeks" to which we Americans have become addicted. "It seems ridiculous to me," he said, "that we spend a week honoring pickles, and only one day honoring Mother."

Wonder if Groucho realized that in October we spend a MONTH honoring donuts, and that this October (if really does exist) has announced plans for a new style 1957 donut with a smaller hole in the center? This comes onto the market in January, and there is much less of "nothing" than we customarily enjoyed with our donuts. Of course, there's a reason for this change—the new styling will make it easier to hold the popular delicacy when it is broken in half, which, according to Emily Post, is the holy politeness to dunk a donut.

Actually the donut comes into its own each Fall about this time. I noticed that my boss served them the other morning at a storewide meeting, and even our Wyckoff radio announcer got into the act Friday morning when I was expounding upon the new style. I walked into the studio with a donut and a container of steaming coffee. We may not sell pastry at Wyckoff, but the fact remains that EVERYTHING is subject to change. All around us we see new styling every day. If even a donut can be glamorized, just imagine what's happening to fashions... jewels... handbags... shoes... and home appliances. Keep your eyes as well as your mouths open! All the changes are delicious.

The "loser" ads we've been running in the newspaper have been attracting quite a bit of attention, my cohorts of the advertising department tell me. "What is the news?" they've been asked. "What's going on at Wyckoff?" Well... like the mule that admitted he was too stubborn to break the story this early... and the pig that insists she'll be in on the ground floor... and the farthinging goose that doesn't mean to be gone enough to miss out on the excitement, WE KNOW, and we're not telling either! We just want you to keep reading the Wyckoff Shopper column... the Wyckoff ads... and listening to WFO.

Incidentally, you'll be among the first to hear the details if you continue listening to the Wyckoff broadcast each morning at 9:45. Do enter our "Identify The Woman" contest. Three of the clues have been presented thus far, with a fourth due this morning. If you've missed hearing any of them, you'll find them posted right inside our main entrance along with the contest rules. Some of the clues are taken from current magazine articles... others from our landmark books for children (sold in the Wyckoff stationery department) and some from the pages of your newspaper. Have your eight guesses in to Wyckoff's, either by mail or messenger, by Saturday noon, October 20th. The first ten received will be given a special gift for effort... the three best guessers will receive valuable Wyckoff gift certificates.

Shirley Widmer has given me a clipping from the Washington, N. J. Star showing attractive Mrs. Gertrude Hess, for whom the residents of her community recently conducted the second annual "Gertrude Hess Day." Mrs. Hess has been blind and crippled since 1929, and spends much of her time easing the loneliness of others who are similarly afflicted. At various times she has sent appeals for assistance to this column and the store radio program, and Monroe Countians have been generous in their response. She is a gallant lady, whom we are happy to salute for courage, valor, and her warm hearted human kindness.

Bibles Of Many Types, Languages Displayed During Women's Meeting At St. John's Church

LUTHERAN CHURCH Women (Missionary Society) of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, held an unusual meeting last week when Bibles of many types and languages were displayed in conjunction with a panel discussion led by Mrs. Edward W. Steinhauer.

The panel consisted of Mrs. John B. Dunkelberger, Mrs. Howard L. Keiper, Sr., and Mrs. Marshall J. Patton. The title of the topic was aptly named "A Lamp Unto Our Feet" showing the way in which to utilize and study the Bible. Rev. P. W. Wohlson read excerpts from Jewish and Greek Bibles.

Further plans were made for the Thank Offering Meeting which will be held Monday, Nov. 12 at which time Miss Elsie Otto, Missionary to Liberia, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Thomas Knepp was named chairman of the Christian Service Committee.

An instruction class sponsored by the Civil Defense will be held in the near future. Anyone interested should leave their names at the church office.

The nominating committee consists of Mrs. Harold Rupert, Mrs. John B. Dunkelberger and Mrs. Thomas Knepp.

The annual convention of the Allentown Conference of United Lutheran Church Women will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Catasauqua on Wednesday. The afternoon session starts at 2. Box lunch will be served from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Second session is at 7:30 p.m. Kindly contact Mrs. Edward Yost.

The refreshment committee for November consists of Mrs. C. B. Ahemose, Mrs. Thomas Knepp, Mrs. G. Leslie Bush, Mrs. Ira Heller and Mrs. Earl Dennis and Mrs. Riese.

The refreshments were served by Mrs. Edward Yost, Mrs. Almina Schmidt, Mrs. Harold Rupert and Mrs. Philip Henning.

Organists To Hold Meeting

A DINNER meeting of the local chapter of the American Guild of Organists will be held tomorrow night at 7 in East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Guest speaker will be Rev. John Bollier, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Stroudsburg.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by contacting Eleanor Bender, 100 Broad St., Stroudsburg, telephone 4875-J. Miss Bender is in charge of arrangements for seating at the dinner.

Organists and choir directors of churches are invited and asked to bring the ministers of their churches, according to M. H. S. Reese, secretary of the AGO.

Prevention Of Fires Main Topic

BANGOR—Fire prevention was discussed by Chris Schlemmer, of the local fire department, during the dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Colonial Hotel last week.

Citing statistics, he stated that fire losses in 1955 were more than $15,000,000 higher than in 1954 and that this year losses are running ahead of last year. There are about 12,000 deaths annually due to fire and the rate gradually is increasing from year to year.

Common causes of fire were reviewed. Negligence or carelessness cause 90 percent, he said. But there are better fire regulations today and, if followed, they can cut down on the number of fires. Nation-wide introduction of junior fire departments and the teaching of children about carelessness are aiding in prevention.

Leave Building
He said persons should know beforehand how they will be able to leave a building if the main access route is blocked. Everyone should practice fire prevention. All fires are expensive, he observed, and he left his audience with the motto, "Don't give fire a place to start."

Schlemmer was introduced by William Zackey, program chairman, who also presented the certificates of appreciation. Walter Ebert, president, was in charge. C. H. Dietrich offered the invocation. Zackey was the song leader. Turtzo the pianist. Arthur Croner, a member, was reported a patient at the Easton Hospital.

He spent the weekend with her son, Norman Burger and family.

The Fall meeting of East Penna. Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Churches will meet Oct. 19 at Nazareth.

NEWEST THING IN CARS would seem to be this model decked out with a table lamp on top. Curious sight is not quite what it seems, of course, but Record photographer Rod MacLeod "saw" it when he looked out the window of local lunch counter Friday night. Aiming his camera at the optical illusion, MacLeod used time mechanism, shot at full second to capture it on film. In case you're mystified (we weren't, of course) it was all done with glass. Car was parked outside (naturally) at curb. Lamp was inside building. But window reflection of the lamp put it smack on top of the non-reflected auto. Car is recommended for heavy reading in back seats but not for back-seat drivers. Or is the whole thing a case of auto-suggestion?

Lake Ariel Woman To Be Director

SYRACUSE, Oct. 14—The first woman director in the 50-year history of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, largest milk marketing cooperative in the nation, will be officially seated this week.

Mrs. Emil Brown of Lake Ariel, Pa., 47-year-old farm wife, mother of six children (and grandmother of four) took her place as the newest and only woman director of the League when the 24-member Board met last weekend.

League directors, each representing one of 24 districts in the five-state New York Milkshed, are elected for three-year terms. Mrs. Brown represents the Pennsylvania counties of Wayne, Lackawanna, Monroe and Wyoming. She succeeds retired director Edward Kinsman of Homestead.

Operation

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brown were born and raised on dairy farms in Wayne County, Pa. They presently operate 200 acres, part of which is Emil Brown's home farm. Their herd of 40 registered Holsteins (25 milking at present) averages from 10,000 to 14,000 pounds of milk and about 400 pounds of butterfat per cow annually.

Pride of the Brown family last present is the new cinder block and concrete barn, complete with 32 tie stalls and a self-unloading glass lined Harvestore silo. The barn designed and built by Emil Brown assisted by his sons Arnold 23 (now in the Army) and Arthur, 20. Arthur along with his brother Gary, 19, and a sister, Sylvia, 13, live at home. Two other daughters, Marion and Edna are married.

Mrs. Brown has been active in Dairymen's League activities for many years. She has served for seven years as a Legislative Committee Woman and for a number of years as an Associate Delegate in the Home Department program of the League.

Nixon Fears Higher Taxes

Boulder, Colo., Oct. 14 (AP)—Vice President Nixon tonight said Adlai Stevenson's economic program is a "grab bag of government goodies" which would cost the average family $320 a year in new taxes.

Nixon, in a talk prepared for a Young Republican rally, said he was replying to the Democratic presidential candidate's charge that the Eisenhower administration is indifferent to labor.

the absence of the president the pastor, Rev. Paul Youse, took charge of the meeting. Reports were given by the secretary, Miss Divona Gates, and the treasurer, Mrs. John Buzzard. Plans were made to hold a Halloween party on Thursday, Oct. 25 with the members of the Luther League.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Miss Irene Reimer and Miss Joyce West.

DESPITE a 19-7 upset loss by East Stroudsburg High, the three local football contingents managed to run their over-all season record to 11 triumphs as Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg State Teachers each recorded their fourth success of the season.

For the Teachers on Normal Hill the win was a big one. Besides being the fourth for the unbeaten Warriors of Eugene Martin, the victory over Lock Haven State Teachers established the Hillmen as a top contender for the 1956 Pennsylvania State Teachers Conference football crown.

By knocking off perennial pretender, or if you care always a bridesmaid but never a bride, Lock Haven, the Warriors shook up the standings and vaulted unofficially into first place in the circuit.

Looking ahead, and you have to peer far into the distance, the Martinmen are on the best track since the innovation of the PSTCC. Only West Chester stands menacingly in the way of the local collegians for the title.

Oh yes, the Warriors got a few other tilts to pack away in contests with Mansfield (this Saturday) and Cheyney and Kutztown in the final tilts of the season. Either one or all of this trio are capable of coming up with the big one and sending the Hillmen, ungloriously down to defeat.

But we like to feel that West Chester (and Cortland, a non-loop foe) will be the real toughest for the Warriors to hurdle.

We're not attempting to put the so-called kiss of death on Martin and his proteges, but we are trying to fire up the opposition beyond the call of duty. The veteran ESSTC member has quite a club, probably the best or one of the best he's ever tutored. And for our money they're capable of going all the way. That's if they so desire.

Stroudsburg, following its stunning loss to Palmerton High two weeks ago, reinvented itself among the better scholastic eleven in the area with victories over Pen Argyl and Bangor in its last two starts.

The charges of John Whitehead revealed again its potent attack and also showed a fine defense in battering Bangor 16-0 last Friday.

The Mountaineers, to a man, gave their partisans one of the best shows of team performance in the Slater tilt. From end to end, and quarterback to full, Stroudsburg unfurled an eleven that spelled out the word DESIRE in capital letters.

Whitehead's boys expressed the adage, "A team that won't be beat can't be beat" in no uncertain terms Friday, thus Victory No. Four.

For approximately three and a half quarters Saturday night, East Stroudsburg High had a victory within its grasp before the roof, which was caving from the second period fell in.

Parkland, the Cavalier's eventual conquerors, was not the greatest eleven to step on Memorial Stadium turf, nor by any means, were they the worst. But they were opportunists, especially on two pass interceptions to set forth for their winning TD.

Eastburg dominated the play entirely in the first quarter while the Trojans controlled all in the final period.

In between neither side mustered enough strength on the ground or in the air to get into each other's hair.

But the pay off on the final score and Parkland, which didn't pay much attention to the Cavalier's flanks for three quarters, started to think about them in the fourth as every three out of four maneuvers headed wide to the right or left. When the speed-running flurries were over East Stroudsburg was nursing its second setback in five games.

Fight Over Nats 'Move'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The lid blew off a Washington Senators' front-office row today, with the club treasurer declaring he is flatly opposed to shifting the team's franchise and would fight it if necessary.

Treasurer H. Gabriel Murphy, who also owns the biggest single parcel of stock in the American League baseball club, said he was "shocked and saddened" to learn that Calvin Griffith, the Senators' president, is seriously weighing a move to Los Angeles or some other city.

Griffith fired back at Murphy's long and scorching statement with one of his own declaring he would be extremely "reluctant" to leave the capital but felt bound to study propositions "which might be advantageous."

Informal proposals have been received from Los Angeles, San Francisco and Louisville, and Griffith said this week he also has been contacted by an unidentified Texas city about the possibility of relocating the Senators. Los Angeles is understood to have presented the most attractive offer.

Martinmen Hand Lock Haven First Setback In 28-12 Win

LOCK HAVEN — East Stroudsburg State Teachers College was waving its biggest scalp of the season today, following the Warriors' 28-12 tomahawking of Lock Haven State Teachers here Saturday.

Striking three times through the air and once on the ground, the unbeaten and untied Warriors grabbed a 21-0 halftime edge and then proceeded to knock the Bald Eagles from the undefeated ranks in posting their fourth straight victory.

Dick Merring and Al Hoffman led the ESSTC scoring parade, denting the Eagles' goal line twice each Merring tallied on a four-yard burst and pulled in a 21-yard pass from Jim Oplinger for his two scores, while Hoffman was on the front end of a 28-yard pass and run maneuver from Oplinger and a 17-yard sortie from Guida (Giets) DiTorre for his pair.

Lock Haven, winners of two straight before Saturday, broke into the scoring column in the third quarter when George Dinterman plunged over from the two. Quarterback Jim McGulick snuck across from the one in the last stanza for the Eagles' final TD.

Unofficial Lead

It was a great day for the armoured Warriors who unofficially took over first place in the Pennsylvania State Teachers Conference with the convincing victory. Besides Lock Haven, the Martinmen have the scalps of Millersville and Shippensburg numbering among their four victories.

East Stroudsburg wasn't long in making the score 7-0 in its favor in the first period following two exchanges of punts. The second Eagles' boot—a quickie—caught the locals flatfooted and with the aid of a 15-yard clipping penalty the Warriors were starting from scratch on their own three.

But the depth of the hole didn't phase the Hilltoppers. After Merring and DiTorre and Denny Roth lugged to the 22, Oplinger slipped back and aimed a 43-yard toss at Hoffman and the big Warrior end plucked off the ball and ran the distance to culminate a 57-yard advance and a 78-yard one-play maneuver.

Place Kicks 4
Roth, one of the better place-kickers in college ranks, split the standards on the first of his four straight conversions and the Warriors led 7-0.

Lock Haven threatened in the final stages of the opening period, marching 52 yards to the Warriors' 17 before the Hill's defense stiffened and thwarted the bid.

East Stroudsburg gained a 14-0 pad halfway through the second quarter, following a block of a Bald Eagle punt by center Warren Davis and a recovery by guard John Martino on the Haven's 25.

After a Roth aerial to Oplinger moved the Warriors to the 12, Merring, on three carries, zoomed into the end zone from the four. Roth converted again for the 14th marker.

Roth Hits Oplinger
Later in the period Roth again set up a Warrior TD when he hit Oplinger with a 30-yard aerial to advance his mates from their own 49 to the Eagles' 21. In less than 40 seconds Jack Robinson, Oplinger's canny back and fired to Merring on the goal line and the East Stroudsburg native stepped across for the six-pointer. Roth's placement aim was good again and East Stroudsburg took a 21-0 edge into the intermission.

95 Yard March
Lock Haven stormed back in the third quarter, traveling 95 yards as Dinterman passed and ran the Eagles to the two before finally going over himself.

East Stroudsburg upped its bulge to 28-6 at the outset of the fourth quarter, driving 60 yards in two plays. Les Brubaker got the Warriors started when he streaked off tackle from his own 40 to the Eagles' 33. Here he lateraled to Gary Keller who bulled his way to the 17.

On the very next play, DiTorre found Hoffman in the end zone with a 17-yard, scoring heave. Roth's marksmanship was perfect for the 28th point.

Lock Haven broke into the scoring column for the final and last time, moving 45 yards to the Warriors' one from where McGulick finally sneaked over.

FRANK LUPIN MOVES TO THREE—Co-Captain Frank Lupin pushes off one Trojan as he advanced ball to the three-yard line in the first quarter of Cavalier-Parkland game at Memorial Stadium Saturday night. One play later Don Miller tallied for Eastburg who went down to a 19-7 loss at hands of the Trojans.

Late Parkland Rally Rips East Stroudsburg High, 19-7

A BIG AND FAST Parkland High eleven rallied in the last seven minutes of play to pull out of a 19-7 victory over East Stroudsburg before 1500 dismayed fans at Memorial Stadium Saturday night.

The Cavaliers, never behind for 41 minutes and 18 seconds, saw their 7-6 lead evaporate into thin air as the Trojans struck for the go-ahead TD at 6:42 of the fourth period and add another moments later to turn what was a close-scoring contest into somewhat of a rout.

The Trojans, who recorded their first Lehigh-Northampton League win of the season, found a flaw in the Cavaliers' defensive armor and pummeled what proved to be the winning and clinching six-pointer in the final surges.

Striking from three definite offenses—Split-T, Single Wing and Double Wing—the Trojans skirted the Cavalier ends almost at will in the final seven minutes to gain their second win of the season.

With the buck-lateral series as the main forte, Parkland, led by the short man (quarterback Tony Yabush) ran to the outside of both flanks to rip off long yardage, which finally ended up with TD scampers by the same Yabush.

East Stroudsburg started out as if the game was going to be strictly a Cavalier affair. Taking the first exchange of punts, Kist's T-operatives slanted, bulled and knifed their way 67 yards in 15 plays with Don Miller shooting the last three with 58 seconds left in the opening stanza.

Eastburg Drive
The march was a typical Eastburg drive. Taking over on its 33, Miller and Corky Smith combined for a first down on the 43. Miller, this time took Phil Simon as a partner, and knocked off another first on the Parkland 47.

After Smith lost a yard to the 46, Miller swept to the 43. Here Charley Lupin stepped back and left-handed a pass to end Bob Gordon on the 28.

Miller on two belts got to the 21 and Frank Lupin, on a pair of carries, moved to the 13. Smith, in two drives, was on the 7 before Frank Lupin shook over off three Trojans to pick up a first on the 3. On the very first play, Miller darted over guard to register the six-pointer.

Bob Stine made it 7-0 in favor of the Kistmen by splitting the up-rights.

But this was the last great moment for the local Cavaliers. From here on out Eastburg was on the defense as the attacking force spluttered and finally stalled.

Parkland threatened early in the second period, going to the Cavaliers' 9 with a first and goal situation coming up. But the Cavaliers' defense extended themselves there and in four downs the Trojans were on the 10 and Eastburg had the ball.

Parkland Scores
However, East Stroudsburg's forward wall couldn't contain the visitors midway in the canto after a Don Miller boot was downed on the Cavalier 33. With Milt Peoples, Glen Snyder carrying the invaders bulled to the 29. Then Snyder sidestepping two on-charging Cavaliers, drifted back and lofted a wobbly pass that was pulled in by Phil Faust in the end zone. With the timepiece showing 5:09 left to halftime, Parkland's Peoples plunging try for the extra point was halted and Eastburg still enjoyed the lead, although only by one point, 7-6.

The remainder of the time to the halftime and a good part of the third quarter turned into a kicking duel between Don Miller and Parkland's Jim Bowman. However, a partially-blocked Miller boot in the third kept the Cavaliers on the defense during the tail end of the third and the start of the fourth.

The first of a series of serious misfortunes hit the Cavaliers near the midway point of the fourth when Jim Young intercepted a Charley Lupin pass and ran it from the Eastburg 43 to the 34.

Go-Ahead TD
Following two bulps up the middle to the 29, Snyder skidded wide around his right end and shot to a first on the 14. Then the Trojan pulled a switch, sending Peoples wide around left end to the 10. Yabush, on a rollout, from the buck-lateral series roamed alone around right end for the go-ahead TD. Peoples failed to make the extra point in a plunge attempt.

It wasn't long after—one minute, 38 seconds, to be exact—that Parkland tallied the clincher. And again it was an intercepted pass that set up the six-pointer.

Peoples latched on to Bob Herman's desperation heave on the Eastburg 34 and went all the way to the 10 before being hauled down. On the first play from scrimmage, Yabush skoted around left end for the touchdown. To give the Eastburg Trojans more trouble, Young swung around right end for the extra point and Parkland's 19th.

Eastburg got one more series of downs in before the game was over but not before Parkland had enough time to kill the clock.

Strouds PML Kings; Oust Lake Harmony

LAKE HARMONY — Seasonal champion Strouds added the Pocono Mountain League playoff crown to their laurels yesterday by defeating and eliminating Lake Harmony 5-2 in the second game of the best-of-three runoff series here.

Frank Radler's nine jumped off to a three-run lead in the second inning and then rode behind Bill Sommers' six-hit pitching to gain the coveted triumph.

The victory was the Strouds' 30th in 31 games this year, including a 21-1 log with PML foes. By losing, Lake Harmony ended up with a 15-7 record.

For Sommers the triumph was Number 20 in 21 trips to the hill. The only loss pinned on the Strouds and Sommers was handed by Tannersville in a mid-season loop fray.

15 Errors
The sloppily played game—15 errors by both sides, eight by the Strouds and seven by Lake Harmony—marred the pitching performances of the visitors Sommers and Lake Harmony's Pete Labosky.

While Labosky gave up nine hits all told, the Lake Harmony twirler allowed only one in the first five frames and trailed 3-2 going into the sixth.

Sommers, who had the better of the duel all the way, struck out 11 and walked only three, while Labosky fanned three, walked four and tossed two wild pitches.

The Strouds took a lead it never relinquished in the second on one hit, two errors and Paul (Doc) Lim's sacrifice fly. Charley Litis got the hit, a single that scored a run.

Cut Margin
Lake Harmony cut the margin to 3-2 in the third on two miscues and Lloyd Dietz's single.

Radler's charges made it 4-2 in the eighth on singles by Russ Staples and Al McCormick and Barry Tretchway's run-producing hit.

The Strouds closed out their scoring in the ninth on a single by Sommers and Danny Eppley's RBI base-knock to right.

Giambra Gets Test Friday In TV Battle With Turner

HANDSOME Joey Giambra, back in the middleweight ratings with a No. 10 spot and eager to climb higher, goes after his fifth straight victory Friday night when he meets rapid-firing Gil Turner at Madison Square Garden.

The 25-year old Giambra has beaten Al Andrews, John L. Sullivan twice, and Rocky Castellani since settling down after his Army discharge. Before he went into the service, he was high up in the rankings and headed for a title shot. The rangy Buffalo, N. Y., 157-pounder has a 45-4-1 record. The New York 10-rounder will be broadcast and telecast (NBC TV, radio, 9 p.m., EST) coast to coast.

Welterweights—Welterweights are featured in the Monday and Wednesday night television tilts. Garnett (Sugar) Hart, a highly touted, 21-year old Philadelphia who has won eight straight, makes his New York debut Monday night against Earl Dennis of New York at St. Nicholas Arena (Dumont TV) 9:30 p.m., (EST). Hart has a 16-1 record including 14 knockouts. Dennis, winner of 20 of his last 23, has a 30-13-5 record, including 11 knockouts.

Star From Start—WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (P)—Tom Secules, William and Mary's sophomore quarterback from Williamsport, Pa., is the first freshman ever to win a varsity letter at quarter-back for the Indians. As a 1955 freshman, Secules played in every game, completing 24 passes for 315 yards.

DISASTER'S DARK SKELETON rises against calm Fall sky at site of fire-gutted Hendricks Coal Co. building along banks of Broadhead Creek in Stroudsburg. Damage is estimated at $25,000 by owner Clayton Hendricks. It was the second time in 14 months—the first time by flood—that Hendricks' business dreams dissolved around him. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Fire Damages Hendricks Coal Company

AN ESTIMATED $25,000 damage was caused in an unexplained explosion-fire at Hendricks Coal Co., 85 N. First St., Stroudsburg at about 8 a.m. Saturday.

The explosion nearly took the life of a workman at the coal company who had just finished backing a truck from the building.

Clayton Hendricks, owner of the coal company, told firemen that the flash fire had destroyed all of his company records. He said the fire went through the building so fast that nothing could be saved.

For Hendricks it was the second major disaster in the past 14 months. In August, 1955, the flash flood on the Broadheads Creek put the coal company building under 10 feet of water, Hendricks said. The company is located a few feet away from the creek banks.

Close Call

The worker who nearly lost his life in the explosion was Claude Ludwig. He told firemen he had just backed two trucks from the office-garage when he was "thrown forward in the cab of the second truck" by the force of the explosion.

Fire instantly flashed through the 30 by 60 foot structure. Hendricks said that Ludwig had backed the two trucks out, getting them ready for use. The owner said he had no idea what could have caused the explosion since there was no fire of any kind in the building and it housed nothing but the trucks and a small amount of coal.

Firemen fought the blaze for an hour and a half, finally brought it under control. At 10:40 a.m., however, they were recalled to the scene when flames burst forth again. Three other vehicles were safe from the fire but a new tractor, valuable tools, office records and equipment and a number of oil drums were lost in the fire, Hendricks said.

Pen Argyl's Volunteer Fire Company Reports On Observance Of 'Fire Prevention Week'

PEN ARGYL—Lookout Volunteer Fire Co. reported on the observance of "Fire Prevention Week" in the borough last week.

Pamphlets citing the danger and cost of fires were distributed among school pupils. The company decided to participate in the Halloween parade on Oct. 23. Permission was granted the Exchange Club to use the emergency lighting and amplifying equipment for the parade.

Donations voted included $25 for the Salvation Army campaign and five dollars for the Girl Scout drive. The firemen voted to cooperate in a drive to start Nov. 20 for funds to establish a school for retarded children in the county.

An application for active membership was received from Joseph Falcone.

It was announced that a special Civil Defense group will visit Pen Argyl soon to demonstrate fire-fighting in conjunction with CD work.

The annual pre-Thanksgiving party will be held Nov. 17 with George Woolley, John Sylvester and Willis Rowe in charge of refreshments.

Stroudsburg Hi-Y Club Elects New Officers

STROUDSBURG HI-Y CLUB is starting a new year under a new set of officers and a new adviser.

Frederick H. Shaffer, biology teacher at the school, is the adviser. The student officers are headed by William Kegley. Only senior high school boys are eligible for membership. The process of becoming a member involves a three-week trial period in which the boy and the club decide whether they are suitable for each other, Shaffer explained. This trial run is climaxed by the initiation ceremonies to be held Nov. 7.

Hi-Y plans for the future include a social activity in cooperation with the girls of the Tri-Hi-Y, who will play host to a district convention in November, and sending a delegate to the state Hi-Y convention in Easton.

The program for this week's meeting will be a film on the development of Hi-Y Clubs in this country. A swim in the YMCA pool will follow the session.

Any boy in senior high school interested in becoming a member should report at the YMCA on Wednesday at 7 p.m., Shaffer announced.

Program To Assist Farmers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower today announced a stepped up program to help drought-stricken farmers and ranchers. He said he plans a personal visit to the parched area to see that the extra federal aid is bringing "good results."

The President's action followed Democratic charges that the Republican administration is indifferent to drought problems.
